Where History Meets Horizon 349 North West Point Road is no ordinary oceanfront home—it’s a living story. Built in 1992 as the architect’s personal residence, this remarkable West Bay property was designed to celebrate both traditional Caymanian character and uninterrupted ocean views. Facing the rolling blues of the Caribbean Sea and cradled by lush garden landscapes, the home sits in perfect harmony with its surroundings. But this house doesn’t just have good bones—it has great stories. A Hollywood Hideaway In 1992, as filming began on the legal thriller The Firm, Hollywood legend Tom Cruise quietly took refuge at this very address. Seeking escape from the paparazzi, the actor found peace in the privacy and understated luxury of this secluded retreat. For a brief moment, the property became a backdrop to stardom—its walls holding whispers of blockbuster film sets and starlit nights. Sophie’s Choice: A Legacy of Love Not long after, the home was passed into the hands of its second owners—whose beloved dog Sophie fell so completely in love with the garden that the home was lovingly dubbed “Sophie’s Choice.” For over two decades, this name stuck, and the house blossomed into a space of warmth, companionship, and joy. The gardens still hum with her spirit—vibrant, loyal, and full of life. Modern Refinement, Coastal Freedom A decade ago, the current owners reimagined the property with thoughtful upgrades and timeless finishes. From natural light that floods the interiors to elevated finishes and open flow, this home balances refined living with laid-back coastal ease. With the perfect southerly aspect and the best 180 degree views on island, the owner’s sons became true Cayman watermen—diving, snorkeling, and living life just steps from the sea. And it’s easy to see why. Infinite Views, Unrivaled Access From this oceanfront perch, the views are extraordinary. Gaze all the way up Seven Mile Beach. Watch the fireworks dance over the water on New Year’s Eve. Dive straight into the Caribbean Sea from your backyard or spend the afternoon snorkeling through crystal-clear reefs. This is the essence of Cayman living—authentic, adventurous, and connected to nature at every turn. More Than a Home—A Legacy 349 North West Point Road is more than a property. It’s a piece of Cayman history, a sanctuary for privacy-seekers and ocean lovers alike. Whether you’re drawn by the heritage, the cinematic connection, or the unbeatable access to the water, this home stands ready for its next chapter.
